

An Immersive Holiday in Nepal's Tea Mountains

This unparalleled opportunity invites tea enthusiasts and industry professionals to embark on a transformative journey, venturing into the heart of Nepal's lush tea landscapes. Our meticulously designed 7-Days Professional Tea Development Course led by Chris Macnitt (Former Tea Development Lead at Starbucks) transcends the conventional, offering an immersive and hands-on experience that goes beyond the surface of tea appreciation.

Crafted with precision, this course serves as a gateway to a profound understanding of Nepal's tea heritage, delving into the intricate art of tea production. Participants will find themselves amidst the vibrant tapestry of Nepal's tea culture, where every sip holds a story, and every plantation unfolds a chapter of tradition and innovation.

As participants traverse through the meticulously curated itinerary, they will not merely witness the tea-making process; they will actively engage in every step. From the bustling streets of Kathmandu, where the journey begins with an exploration of Nepal's tea history and professional tea tasting, to the serene homestays in Illam and Phidim, where specialty orthodox tea production techniques come to life, each day promises a new layer of expertise.

Throughout the course, participants will partake in professional tea tasting classes and technical sessions, led by industry expert Chris Macnitt. These sessions aim to broaden tea knowledge and expertise, providing a unique opportunity to refine sensory skills and gain a deeper understanding of the technical aspects of tea production. Beyond the technicalities, our course embraces the essence of tea as a cultural cornerstone. Participants will interact with local communities, share moments of conviviality, and gain insights into the socio-cultural fabric woven around tea in Nepal. This unique blend of theoretical knowledge and hands-on experience creates an enriching environment for personal and professional growth.

Moreover, the course unfolds against the backdrop of Nepal's breathtaking landscapes, providing a sensory journey where the aroma of tea blends seamlessly with the sights and sounds of the Himalayan region. From the mist-covered tea gardens to the glass domes in KTE Tea Garden, participants will find themselves in an environment conducive to learning and inspiration.

In summary, our 7-Days Professional Tea Development Course is more than an educational excursion; it is a celebration of tea in its entirety. It invites participants to not just observe but to immerse themselves in the captivating world of Nepalese tea, where tradition meets innovation, and every leaf tells a tale. Join us on this extraordinary expedition, where passion meets expertise, and the essence of Nepal's tea culture is unveiled in all its richness.
